NATIONAL TOUR OF ACCLAIMED PLAY 'UNRAVELLING THE RIBBON' TO OPEN AT CORK'S EVERYMAN PALACE THEATRE

Tuesday 16th - Saturday 20th September

... an extraordinary piece of theatre. It leaves one shaken to the core in its wicked observation, profound anger and virulently defiant humour.

Sunday Independent

Wednesday 27th August 2008 - The Everyman Palace Theatre announces five performances of Guna Nua and Plan B's extraordinary play, UNRAVELLING THE RIBBON by Mary Kelly and Maureen White. The production is presented in association with Action Breast Cancer, and opens a four week national tour at the Cork venue on September 16th.

As part of the national events on Culture Night, Friday September 19th, the Everyman Palace Theatre in association with Cork City Council are delighted to invite the public to meet the cast of UNRAVELLING THE RIBBON on at 7pm, in advance of the 8pm show.

UNRAVELLING THE RIBBON tells the story of Lola, Rose and Lyndsey. When breast cancer touches their lives, everything starts to unravel. We hear the funny and touching story of these three lives, how they interact, separate and come together in a moving tale of friendship and survival.

UNRAVELLING THE RIBBON received widespread critical praise during its original run at Dublin's Project Arts Centre in 2007, for its intelligent, tender and unsentimental treatment of its subject.

UNRAVELLING THE RIBBON is written by Mary Kelly and Maureen White, who also Directs, with Set and Costume Design by Liz Cullinane, Lighting by Eamonn Fox, Music & Sound Design by Denis Clohessy and Carl Kennedy, with a cast featuring Ruth Hegarty, Janet Moran and Jennifer Laverty

UNRAVELLING THE RIBBON runs for five performances only, from 16th - 20th September at 8pm. Tickets are €25 / €20 / €7 students Tues & Wed. Discounts available for Friday September 19th show, quote 'Culture Night'.
